Bank of Southern California receives top marks as a Small Business lender in San Diego County

San Diego, CA – Bank of Southern California, a locally owned community business bank has been recognized as one of the top small business lenders in the greater San Diego area according to the U. S. Small Business Administration and Multifunding, a financial advisory provider.

Banking Grades, which is a grading tool from Multifunding ranks every FDIC insured bank based on their commitment to small business lending, recently gave Bank of Southern California an A rating for the amount of loans the bank has made to small businesses. By contrast, many other banks in the area received much lower grades.

In addition to this recent commendation, Bank of Southern California has also been recognized as a top SBA lender in the San Diego area for several consecutive quarters according to ranking reports issued by the San Diego District office of the U. S. Small Business Administration.

“We know that local businesses are absolutely essential to our local economy,” says Nathan Rogge, CEO of Bank of Southern California. “We've always been focused on providing small businesses the access to the capital they need to help them grow and expand. It's nice to be recognized which shows that we are meeting the needs of our community.”
